

The promise of Smart-Valleys to accelerate rice self-sufficiency in Africa while reducing irrigated and rainfed low land development costs

Speaker: Prof. Mohammed Moro Buri, CSIR-SRI, Ghana

Prof. Mohammed Moro Buri is an employee of the Council for Scientific and Industrial Research (CSIR), Ghana. He obtained his Ph.D. in Bioenvironmental Sciences from the Tottori University (Japan) in 1999.

He is a Chief Research Scientist with over 200 publications (journal papers, books, book chapters, manuals, etc) and has expertise in effective land management and environmental conservation.

He is currently the Dean, Faculty of Natural Sciences and Environmental Management of the CSIR College of Science and Technology, Ghana.

